Doc.No.190/2024

Dated: 09.10.2024

The person who wrote A1 to A27 and S1 to S50 did not write Q1 to Q5 and Q6 (Photocopy).

The admitted and the specimen signatures have been freely written and they agree in the handwriting characteristics on inter se comparison showing natural variations. The questioned signatures differ significantly from the admitted and the specimen in the handwriting characteristics. The characteristic differences include among other things, the following:-

1. The skill of writing.
2. The alignment between the strokes in the signatures.
3. The location and manner of underscoring the signatures.
4. The relative sizing between the strokes in the signatures.
5. The manner of connecting the strokes in the signatures.
6. The manner of terminating the signatures.
7. In the detailed designs such as the beginning and formation of loops and curves of the strokes in the signatures.
